SUMMARY OF EXPERIENCE

Dr. Fanselau (pronounced “fawn’s low”) completed her medical training at UCLA’s Mattel Children’s Hospital, which U.S. News & World Report ranked as one of the nation’s top pediatric hospitals.

As chief resident, she became a transport physician, and worked with a nurse and a respiratory therapist to stabilize sick children during more than 50 ambulance or helicopter rides.

Prior to joining HMF, she spent a year treating patients throughout Southern California in a variety of locum tenens assignments.

For instance, she served as the sole pediatrician for the city of Bishop—population 4,000—when the town’s husband-and-wife pediatricians went on vacation.

AFFILIATIONS

Dr. Fanselau has privileges at Arcadia Methodist Hospital, and Huntington Memorial Hospital.

MEMBERSHIPS

- Fellow, American Academy of Pediatrics
- Diplomate, American Board of Pediatrics

ON A PERSONAL NOTE

Outside the office, Dr. Fanselau stays fit by competing in triathlons and riding her mountain bike to work several times a week.

“Exercise has always been an integral part of my life, so it feels natural to be physically active every day,” she says.

A pianist since the age of five, she currently performs classical music with cellist Daniel Rothmuller.
