ON A PERSONAL NOTE

Caring for children is second nature to Dr. Mabie. As the second oldest of nine siblings, she started changing diapers at age 4.

Her childhood had its share of adventure as well. Her family lived in Japan during her father’s stint in the Navy. She was too young to appreciate the exotic locale. “All I remember was the snow!” she admits.

Dr. Mabie and her husband have two grown children and live in La Cañada. They often pedal around their neighborhood on a recumbent tandem trike. They plan to spend a summer riding their “two beach chairs on wheels.” across the U.S.
